Renewable Watch is turning 11!

We are pleased to inform you that Renewable Watch will be celebrating its 11th Anniversary in the month of November. To mark the occasion, we are bringing out a special commemorative issue which will be circulated widely across sector and stakeholders.

The anniversary issue will provide a comprehensive overview on state of the renewable energy sector in India with a focus on policies, auctions and tariffs, state-wise developments, major players and their plans, emerging opportunities as well as the financing environment. It will carry extensive segment reviews for solar power, wind power, bio energy, hydropower, off grid renewables including micro grids and solar pumps and emerging opportunities like solar-wind hybrids, energy storage, green hydrogen, and electric vehicles. These segment reviews will highlight the key trends of the past one-year with a focus on the policy environment, price trends, key issues, and the way forward

The special issue will feature interviews of top government officials from the renewable industry as well as perspective of leading developers, manufacturers, financiers, consultants and state energy departments on trending topics in industry forums as well as in the form of authored opinion articles. This issue will have a very comprehensive data and statistics section as well.

Magazine Audience & Circulation: The issue will be reaching out to the top, senior & mid-level managers across relevant ministries and institutions (MNRE, SECI, MoP), state renewable energy development agencies, solar and wind developers, EPC Companies, state discoms and transcos, regulators & other government agencies, consultants, technology providers, equipment manufacturers, conventional power producers, fuel producers and sellers, financial institutions, carbon fund managers, industrial consumers research organizations etc.

The issue is likely to receive much greater attention, because of special promotional events and campaigns. It will also have a much longer shelf life, because of its reference value. The net result for the advertisers will be greater visibility and more value for money.

We do hope you can be part of the Anniversary edition.

The cost for participation is only Rs.70,000 + GST for a regular single full color page. Premium positions available.

The last date for receiving advertisement materials is November 26th.
